Message from seniors	 Song Leilei (from China) I liked Japanese dramas and have come to be interested in Japanese through the dramas. Also, listening to a life in Japan from my cousin who studied there made me think to study in Japan abroad to Japan. I belong to the Department of Management Science which is divided into four special courses. I am studying in the accounting course because I am interested in accounting. Also, I have been studying hard to gain the specialized knowledge and also to improve my English skills at the same time. Dokkyo University offers international events several times a year and I have made many Japanese friends. I have come to know deeply about Japanese culture by spending time with friends, and live a fruitful student life.

Message from seniors	 Zixi Yuan (from Shanghai, China) I like Japanese cartoon (anime) and have come to be interested in the dwelling environment of its background. So, after I studied architecture at the university in China, I came to Japan. In Nippon Institute of Technology, I strongly feel that I study realistic architecture which is in harmony with our daily life since they teach us the meaning of designs such as 'why the window is necessary here?' while looking through various architectural structures in the class. I fully enjoy my campus life here by going for meals with Japanese friends, using the training center or doing sport in the gymnasium of the university.

Message from seniors	 Zeng Fanlin (from China) For students who are currently studying Japanese and searching a field of your future career, I would like to recommend "Department of Pharmaceutical and Medical Business Sciences" of Nihon Pharmaceutical University. This department is for nurturing "administrator of drug stores and hospitals." Therefore, this university teach both "knowledge of drugs" and "knowledge of business" and support you to get necessary qualifications. Thanks to this, I had gained informal appointments from six companies. I currently work at a drug store called "Kokokara Fine". Last year, my junior student also started working for this company. I would like to work for company's oversea business utilizing my language proficiency in the future.
